Hello Leaguers and Friends!

With less than a month until from the election, it's time to get out the vote! September was a busy month for our Voter Services committee. Our team of Charlie Alexander, MaryJane LaBelle and Georgia Nowlin worked tirelessly at coordinating virtual candidate forums, voter registration stations, keeping up with Vote411 and Get Out The Vote suggestions from the state. Whew! We look forward to seeing the filmed YouTube forums later this month!

The Curry League registered more voters this month on our National Registration Day than in any previous year. It was exciting to see younger voters engaged. I was also surprised by the number of people...many of them women...who said they didn't vote. "I don't get involved in politics" several said. It was difficult for me to not engage these citizens in a discussion about civic duty and the impact of laws passed by the representatives we vote for...Thank goodness board member Louise Abbott was there to settle me down and focus on registering voters and answering questions about mail-in voting!

It made me realize how important the League is today in providing information and education about our government and those people who want to represent and lead us. My guess is that civics education is not as it was 50 years ago when I learned about how one vote can make a difference.

A difference in whether we have clean water to drink or air to breathe. A difference in what colleges I could go to, what sports I could play, what salary I should expect... A difference in being sexually harassed at work or not.

- 🇺🇸 Votes I cast contribute to the life I get to lead.
- 🇺🇸 That is democracy.

Help us by being informed and sharing your knowledge with friends and family and remember to VOTE!!

Voter Registration

★ by MJ Labelle

October, 2020 Volume 37 Issue 2

It was a HUGE year for National Voter Registration Day 2020. LWVCC set up tables at three locations:

- 🇺🇸 Chetco Library in Brookings
- 🇺🇸 MacKays Grocery Store in Gold Beach
- 🇺🇸 Ray's Grocery Store in Port Orford

Our thanks go out to these establishments for their voter registration partnership.

The League is grateful!

We are PROUD of the effort and thank Renee' Kolen, City Clerk, for running up and down the coast to bring us more voter registration forms because we were running out! Thanks to:

- 🇺🇸 Charlie Alexander,
- 🇺🇸 Karol Simas and,
- 🇺🇸 Alyce Prudden who organized the city efforts.

Curry County registered a total of 32 new and updated voters, including some fire victims who had to relocate. Additionally, we handed out 43 registration forms for people to take home to fill out. This was the largest number of registrations any of us could remember in our years of working with the National Voter Registration Coalition. The League is only one of the many organizations that participated on September 22, 2020.

Nationally, 1.5 million new or updated voters were registered. This was a record-breaking year with over 4500 community partners and 100 premier partners helping register voters.

To put the 1.5 million into perspective, it is more than half of the near three million people registered on the last eight National Voter Registration Days COMBINED!

"Someone struggled for your right to vote. Use it."

Quoting Tammy Kaufman of Gold Beach : “ the federal government could take a page from our book”. Amen and Thanks! You All!

There are four ballot measures on the November 3, 2020 Oregon Ballot, summarized below along with the Oregon League's position. There is a power point on our website www.lwvcurry.org that describes each.

Vote411.org also has more information

1. Measure 107. Constitutional Amendment: Campaign Finance Limit

Amends Constitution: Allows laws limiting political campaign contributions and expenditures, requiring disclosure of political campaign contributions and expenditures, and requiring political campaign advertisements to identify who paid for them." Campaign finance reform has been an issue at all levels of government elections for many years. LWVOR has supported contribution limits for local and state elections whenever there has been the opportunity. This is a referral from the Legislature and is a Constitutional amendment. Until a recent Oregon Supreme Court decision, courts had held that the Constitution's free-speech provision was contrary to contribution limits. This ballot measure will make sure that campaign contributions are not speech and that campaign contribution limits may be imposed.

League Position: SUPPORT

2. Measure 108. Statutory Amendment: Increase cigarette/cigar taxes & create tax on nicotine inhalant devices

Another legislative referral, that "Increases cigarette and cigar taxes. Establishes tax on e-cigarettes and nicotine vaping devices. Funds health programs." It will help to stop some young people from taking up unhealthful habits. Oregon's taxes on these items are below those in Washington and California. This will raise the taxes to be on a par with those states.

League Position: SUPPORT

3. Measure 109. Statutory Amendment: Allows manufacture, delivery, and administration of psilocybin

"Allows manufacture, delivery, administration of psilocybin at supervised, licensed facilities; imposes two-year development period." The League has no position to support or oppose this ballot measure

League Position: NO POSITION

4. Measure 110. Statutory Amendment: Drug addiction treatment and decriminalization

"Provides statewide addiction/recovery services; marijuana taxes partially finance; reclassifies possession/penalties for specified drugs." Finally, after much conversation, the Board voted to support this measure. The League has several positions on which to base its support, including:

-  LWVOR Health Policy, Adult Mental Health in Oregon (1987, 2001, 2008): This position states that the mental health delivery system should include adults with alcohol and drug addiction and that the concept of care, treatment, and support should occur "in the least restrictive environment possible."
-  LWVUS Sentencing Policy (2012): Alternatives to imprisonment should be explored and utilized, taking into consideration the circumstances and nature of the crime. LWVUS opposes mandatory minimum sentences for drug offenses."
-  LWVUS Principle: "No person or group should suffer legal, economic, or administrative discrimination."

There is a long list of organizations working toward racial justice that support this measure. The Board concluded that because people of color make up a disproportionate group of those who are incarcerated, many for drug related charges, the League should stand in solidarity with them in supporting this ballot measure

League Position: SUPPORT

"When we vote, our values are put into action."

Ruth Bader Ginsburg 1933 - 2020

October, 2020 Volume 37 Issue 2

★ Respectfully submitted by Alyce Prudden

The following is a verbatim excerpt from an obituary of Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg, born Joan Ruth Bader, which appeared in The Week, October 2, 2020, at page 35; most internal quotation marks and substantial portions of the text have been omitted.-

RUTH BADER GINSBURG changed the legal landscape for American women. In a career spanning six decades, she became the nation's leading court advocate for gender equality, first as a civil rights litigator and then as the second woman ever to serve on the Supreme Court. ...Along the way, the quiet, bookish jurist became an unlikely pop-culture icon. Her stern image – with judicial robe and lace collar – was stamped on T-shirts and tattooed on arms, often with the nickname Notorious RBG.

As the Supreme Court veered right after the retirement of Justice Sandra Day O'Connor in 2006, [Ginsburg] dissented more often and more assertively. In 2013, Ginsburg assigned herself an angry dissent when the court struck down a key provision of the 1965 Voting Rights Act Axing the law's protections against voter suppression when they continued to work, she wrote, "is like throwing away your umbrella in a rainstorm because you are not getting wet." She held out hope, she once said, that some of her dissenting opinions might sway a future court, extending her considerable influence yet further. "I will not live to see what becomes of them," she said, "but I remain hopeful."

Rest in power, and rest in peace, Justice Ginsburg.

"When I'm sometimes asked, 'When will there be enough [women on the Supreme Court]?' and I say 'When there are nine,' people are shocked. But there'd been nine men, and nobody's ever raised a question about that."

- Each member will be receiving five postcards to send out to Oregon friends to remind them to vote.
- They will be in the mail shortly.
- Please put a postcard stamp on them and mail them.
- The postcards were designed by the Oregon League of Women Voters and have all the applicable voting dates on them.

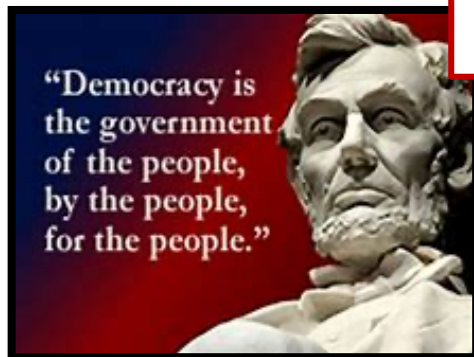

It was hosted by the Wheaton (Illinois) LWV and by the National Institute for Civil Discourse. NICD was started in 2011 by George H.W. Bush and Bill Clinton and has many luminaries on its board. The webinar included insightful remarks by NICD's Dr. Carolyn Lukensmeyer, followed by participants' questions and break-out sessions.

Responding to participants' comments about fears and hopes, Dr. Lukensmeyer focused on concerns over the 2020 election. She identified two crucial periods, before and after the election.

Post-election, the key will be overcoming the belief – regardless of outcome – that the election was “rigged.” We need to be ready with facts, engagement, and outreach, while recognizing existential threats like the pandemic, climate change, and social unrest.

Despite the challenges ahead, the webinar offered avenues for action and hope. I for one am hopeful, for an outspoken liberal justice like Ruth Bader Ginsburg could become close friends with her Supreme Court colleague, rock-ribbed conservative Antonin Scalia, then the rest of us can surely find a way to reach across the divide.

Deborah Turner (LWVUS President, MD, JD)

The LWVCC is providing this information because Climate Emergency is a priority for the League – at the state level and as adopted by the LWVCC.

Many Oregon residents demand to have more information about the causes of the recent fires in Oregon and factors that resulted in the exacerbation of these fires. The Oregonian's Ted Sickinger wrote a story documenting that at least some, if not many of the recent fires in Oregon, were power line ignited. Here is the link to that story.

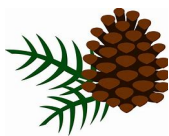

<https://www.oregonlive.com/wildfires/2020/10/pacificorp-could-face-substantial-liability-if-downed-power-lines-caused-oregon-wildfires.html>

Several points of summary from the Oregonian article, information from individual Oregon residents who have been affected directly by these fires, and a Seattle Times article noted below, include:

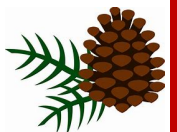

- 🌳 Downed power lines appear to have been involved in some, if not many, of Oregon's recent fires.
- 🌳 Cutting trees, either sustainable or restoration, is not likely to have a significant impact on westside Cascade forests (or elsewhere) in improving the safety of people in these wind- and drought-driven events. Here is a comment from Dominik DellaSalla, "Thinning trees in the backcountry, that won't make the difference. We need to spend the money to fire-harden our communities." DellaSalla is the chief scientist for Wild Heritage, a forest conservation project of the Earth Island Institute, an environmental nonprofit. This information came from the following article in the Seattle Times.

<https://www.seattletimes.com/seattle-news/urban-wildfire-when-homes-are-the-fuel-for-a-runaway-blaze-how-do-you-rebuild-a-safer-community/>

- 🌳 The Seattle Times article also pointed out that the fire that burned Talent and Phoenix had nothing to do with the management of thickly forested Northwest mountain slopes. "It started in a patch of grass by a dog park in Ashland's north end on a hot day with fierce, dry winds. The fire raced through a county greenway park, chewed through roadside brush, and jumped into the heart of two communities Talent and Phoenix, with a combined population of more than 10,000. Then houses, trailers, and commercial buildings became the fuel that fed its relentless advance."
- 🌳 Finally, also from the Seattle Times article, "This fire season has demonstrated, yet again, that many fires in the West burn largely in shrub and grasslands, which can easily and rapidly carry flames into housing developments. And, DellaSalla is urging post-fire legislation be narrowly targeted. He wants more public funds spent and tax credits offered to build communities better able to survive such fire."

I conclude that the best strategies continue to be preparing homes and communities for fire, including home "hardening," creating appropriate, defensible space around homes and other buildings, and protection from smoke. Unfortunately, many of these strategies are easier said than done. However, the sooner we address these issues in a meaningful way, the sooner we can protect our communities from future, yet inevitable fires.

"Although the world is full of suffering, it is also full of overcoming." Helen Keller

Our unique charity link: <https://smile.amazon.com/ch/93-0838450>

When League members go to the above website to shop (instead of directly to Amazon.com), you will use the same sign in that you would use on Amazon.com and all your usual account information will be there. The AmazonSmile Foundation is a 501(c)(3) private foundation created by Amazon to administer the AmazonSmile program.

All donation amounts generated by the AmazonSmile program are remitted to the AmazonSmile Foundation. Here's information about an upcoming event, which is not League-sponsored but may be of interest to LWVCC members.

You're invited on a Zoom call, Wednesday, Oct 21, 6:00-7:30 PM for a discussion of "Timber Tax Fairness: Revenue Restoration for Rural Oregon Jobs, Water, and Wildlife."

The event is intended as a community conversation about revenue restoration, tax fairness, funding essential local services, and protecting drinking water. A group of coastal residents is hosting this event. That group is "exploring ways to reinstate fair timber taxes to fill the hole left in Oregon's rural county budgets created by the elimination of the tax that helped to pay for county services." Among those efforts is an appeal "to the State legislative counsel to draft legislation which would reinstate timber taxes to 1996 levels and redirect that funding to local communities.

The link to register for this session is:

[http://bit.ly/Registration
TimberForum](http://bit.ly/RegistrationTimberForum)

It would also provide a tax reduction to those companies that switch to more environmentally-sound forestry practices" to help mitigate the effects of climate change. Guest speakers for the event include Jody Wiser, tax policy expert, Tax Fairness Oregon; Richard Felley, retired water district manager and past director of Tillamook Estuaries Partnership; Mary Scurlock, water policy expert and advisor on Oregon State University Trees to Tap Report. They will include opportunities to ask the speakers questions and to learn about possible solutions.

We welcome Susan Barke to the LWV Curry County! Susan was kind enough to submit her bio, which follows:

I was born and raised in Minnesota. After my marriage to my first husband, we moved to Boise, Idaho where we lived for 30 years. After 20 years of teaching secondary math, I retired and we moved to the small town of Council, Idaho. My husband had an accident and I suddenly became a widow.

A man I knew and was friends with became my second husband. We took a fishing trip with friends from our town to Newport. After fishing, our plans were to go to Lake Tahoe, but the fires were so bad that we ended up traveling down the Oregon coast and fell in love with this area. Later that fall we rented vacation homes, trying to find a house somewhere between Port Orford and Brookings. After two trips and a month of searching, in December 2018, we finally found our dream home in Port Orford. When I retired, my goal was to volunteer for the community.

I was a camp host for a while. Worked at a non-profit Thrift Store in Council and worked for Meals for Neighbors in Port Orford until COVID hit. During the COVID lock down we watched a documentary on the women of England fighting for the right to vote. My mother was British and raised me to understand politics, current events, candidates, and their platforms. She became a US citizen so she could vote. I mentioned this to my husband and told him I had always meant to join LWV. He told me his mother was LWV and I could talk to her about joining (she lives in Washington). Now that I am a very proud member, I look forward to helping the League any way I can.
